In sport as in life, the sky is the limit. We're looking for someone who believes that with a passion and has so much enthusiasm, it's infectious. Your mission? To be an ambassador for sport and physical activity within local schools and communities. To boldly go where shrinking violets fear to tread. Not so much delivering sport to the people as empowering them to take up the challenge for themselves. So if you're an outgoing self-starter with relevant experience and qualifications, we'd like to hear from you. On offer is a competitive salary, great training, generous holidays and pension plus free use of our leisure facilities. Interested? Call or email for a recruitment pack.

And hit the heights.

The preferred candidate will be subject to an enhanced Disclosure Scotland check.
